The Players Show Spirit and Wager on Taking the Next Two Games.

Emporia yesterday. The Brownies won by score of four to one, Winston hold the visitors down at critical stages the team behind him playing ginger; ling the visitors down at critical stages and the team behind him playing singery ball.

Fifteen batters were fanned by Twirler Hobbs, and only four times was he found safely. His twists were beyond acolution, some of the surest hitters on the champion team ozoning. In three innings he retired each man with his peculiar benders. But yithe fates were against him, and the first of the series of three games between the Brownies and the Emporia aggregation went to the home boys.

The champions sent Bowers to bat in the first inning. Hobbs gave him free dumped one to the pitcher, who attempted to make a double. The throw to second was bad, and Bowers went to third, while Rose anchored at the initial sack. Sharp banged one down to Hill, and again thore was a fumble, this time one that counted, for Bowers was coming across the rubber. Eacho sent one to short, and the man on first failed to take the throw, which, by the way, was a poor one. Rose budded out at the plate two runs had been made, not a hit had been recorded, and there was no one to runs had been made, not a hit had been recorded, and there was no one try road speedily. In the second ling, after giving one base on balls, Hobbs settled down and put nine balls over the plate. They were strikes, and it only required three each for a man.

Two hits in the sixth inning, coupled with an error of right field and a bun play at second, gave the champions two more turns. tribution of a pamphlet, signed by Albert Clarke, secretary of the Home Market Club, of Boston, assailing the reciprocity Club, of Boston, assailing the reciprocity movement and backing up the attack with an alleged letter from John M. "Some modifications of the present law has become imperative. This has been acknowledged by Congress itself. Nobody disputes the power of Congress to regulate the question by a maximum and minimum tariff which the legislature may apply to the products of foreign countries, according to their treatment of our exports to their markets. A majority of Congress can pass such a law. This may be the best practical solution of the question." The questions to be considered by "The questions to be considered by the conference are of grave and growing importance to our agricultural interests, and to various branches of our manufacture. It is no longer a question of protecting our home market that has been most effectively—and even excessively—accomplished. It has led to monopolies. It is imporative now to protect our foreign markets. There are hundreds of millions of surplins productions which we do not need and cannot consume at home. If the foreign markets are not kept open for them, if any one important market is closed to them, it will react upon the home market. Any extended closing of foreign markets would inevitably result in the collapse of our national prosperity.

"The adoption of this principle would not accomplish for our foreign trade all that reciprocity would accomplish. It would not open any very extensive new markets for our products; but it would prevent discrimination. A maximum and minimum tarist is more in the way of relutions, but something must be done, and if we cannot secure reciprocity I shall favor the enactment of a law by Congress providing a maximum tarist to be applicable to every nation that discriminates against our products."

Enter Formal Protest Against Added Assessment.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
18LIP, L. I., August 16.—Yesterday was what is known by the county assessors as grievance day, and the Isilp officials whose duty it is to decide how much whose duty it is to decide how much each tax-payer shall pay toward the support of the government were apt busy. Wealthy property owners either came personally or sent their attorneys to protest against the amounts assessed opposite their names.

Robert B. Roosovelt, Sr., former minister to The Higgue, and his son, Robert B. Roosovelt, Jr., of Sayville, uncle and cousin of President Roosovelt, cnoteed protests in person. The former pays on $10,000 personal property and the latter on $5,000, while each has large realty holdings. The senior Mr. Roosevelt feared an increase in his personal tax. His son objected to an assessment of $5,500 on his two cottages, in Candee Avenue, in Sayville. The assessors told him that his property justified the valuation placed on it.
